No doubt your baby can be churlish, irritable, inconsolable, whiny, and manically happy, sometimes even in the span of an hour. That's pretty normal as far as infants go, alas. But does your baby's behavior go beyond the normal range? Is it possible that your bouncing bundle of joy is actually an asshole? Take this quiz to find out.

1. It's 2 pm. Your baby is:

- A. Pooping
- B. Projectile vomiting

- C. Go hoarse from transforming every song you know, from "Jingle Bells" to "Bad Blood" to "She's On It," into lullabies.

Your baby is kind of an asshole. The good news is that while most babies are assholes, most toddlers are not. Right? Right? Please god, right?

Mostly Bs

Your baby is 50% asshole. However, the other 50% is pure cuteness, so you probably won't mind or even notice the asshole qualities. At least not on Instagram. #lovingbabytopieces

Your baby is an asshole. Yet your baby is also meeting her milestones quickly and showing some terrific developmental accomplishments. No doubt she's a genius, and geniuses can get away with being assholes. Just ask Steve Jobs.

Mostly Ds

Your baby is definitely an asshole. But it sounds like you're a bit of an asshole too. So maybe you deserve each other?
